

Contact:
Michael Conlon
630.366.2838
630.913.6195 (cell)
Michael.Conlon@deltakedu.com

DELTAK EDU TO EXHIBIT AT CONFERENCE DEVOTED TO ONLINE EDUCATION
Online Education Partner to Highlight Expertise to Faculty and Administrators

Chicago, IL (October 21, 2009) – Deltak edu, a recognized and respected industry leader in online higher education and distance learning, will exhibit at the 15th annual Sloan-C International Conference on Online Learning in Orlando, Florida, October 28-30, 2009.

For over a dozen years, Deltak has served as a key contributor to the success of its partner institutions by bringing their degree and certificate programs online. To date, 15 prestigious regionally accredited, private institutions have been able to expand the reach of their graduate and undergraduate programs and increase enrollments and revenue through their relationship with Deltak.

The Sloan-C conference is expected to bring approximately 1,200 education professionals together to discuss new developments and challenges in the rapidly changing world of online learning. Deltak plans to highlight its experience in developing and marketing online programs in a variety of fields, including health care, business, and psychology.

“The conference is a wonderful opportunity to meet faculty and administrators and show them how our expertise can help their institution achieve a high return with a minimal financial investment,” said Craig Pines, President and CEO of Deltak.

Representatives from Deltak edu will be at Booth #705. For additional information about Deltak, visit www.deltakedu.com.

About Deltak edu

Deltak partners with colleges and universities to provide a full range of services that include marketing, student recruitment, faculty training, instructional design, student retention services, and 24/7 student and faculty support for schools seeking growth opportunities in online education. The company is focused on partnering with institutions desiring to advance their educational mission in an online modality, in ways consistent with their reputation for quality, for the purpose of achieving strategic objectives. Deltak is currently assisting fifteen top institutions expand their reach and achieve their growth objectives. The company is a pioneer business processes outsourcing company that was formed from a think tank at the University of North Carolina – Chapel Hill in the early 1990s.

###